

INDEX OF CONTENTS

Chapter One

GENERAL REMARKS

- I. Approach
- II. Conceptualization regarding the comparative law
- III. The “vessel” notion on the Mexican law
- IV. The “vessel” notion on the international law
- V. Elements taken into account while establishing the “vessel” concept.
Analysis of the concept on the applicable Mexican law
- VI. Legal nature
- VII. Acceptions and characters
- VIII. The State and the vessel: administrative law and shipping law

Chapter Two

TO BE AND THE LOSS OF THE BEING: THE VESSEL’S ONTOLOGY AND THE LEGAL EFFECTS

- I. Approach and vessel personification theory
- II. Vessel’s launching
- III. Vessel’s individualization elements
- IV. Vessel’s classification. Classification societies
- V. Vessel’s inspection
- VI. Vessel’s documentation
- VII. To drop and roster’s cancellation
- VIII. Disassembling of a boat and vessel’s lost

Chapter Three

THE VESSEL’S NATIONALITY: THE PAVILION LAW

- I. Approach
- II. Nation, State and Nationality
- III. The nationality institution on legal persons and goods
- IV. Legal nature on the State-vessel relationship: nationality and the “Pavilion Law”

- V. Nationality and navigation freedom
- VI. Granting and the use of the pavilion
- VII. The vessel's nationality regarding the comparative law
- VIII. Nationals legislative backgrounds
- IX. Nationality complex situations

Chapter Four

SHIPPING PROPERTY: GENERAL REMARKS

- I. Preview: the maritime, commercial and civil applicable law on the private law hypothesis
- II. An approach to the property institution
- III. The property institution and the vessels
- IV. The private property: guaranteed fundamental right
- V. The property on the public law: the original ground on the naval property
- VI. The vessel: a movable property regarding its nature, an immovable property regarding its controlled circulation by the law
- VII. The naval property and its limits

Chapter Five

DIFFERENT MEANS FOR VESSEL'S ACQUISITION ON THE DOMESTIC LAW

- I. Approach
- II. Means for acquisition according to the domestic law

Chapter Six

MEANS FOR VESSEL'S PROPERTY ACQUISITION ACCORDING TO THE PUBLIC POLICY OF THE NAVIGATION LAW

- I. General Remarks
- II. Vessel's seizing
- III. Vessel's confiscation
- IV. Angaria law
- V. Abandonment in favor of the nation

Chapter Seven

MEANS FOR VESSEL'S PROPERTY ACQUISITION
ACCORDING TO THE PRIVATE NAVIGATION LAW APPLICABLE RULES

- I. Contracts of construction
- II. Abandonment validly accepted by the insurer

Chapter Eight

MARITIME SHARED PROPERTY

- I. Approach
- II. Civil shared property and maritime shared property
- III. Maritime shared property and the corporate structure: characteristics and differences
- IV. The maritime shared property administration
- V. The shared property's owners liability concerning third persons with respect of the shared property obligations
- VI. Causes for extinguishment of the maritime shared property
- VII. The majorities regime on the mexican shared property

Chapter Nine

NAVAL PUBLICITY

- I. Approach
- II. The rules governing copyright
- III. The relevance and general remarks of the naval publicity
- IV. The naval publicity characteristics
- V. Publicity on the right *in rem
- VI. Construction and leasing shipping's registry
- VII. Shipping's documentation
- VIII. Shipping's registration system
- IX. The organization of the National Public Maritime Registry in Mexico
- X. The registry procedure, diverse procedures and disagreement
- XI. Commentary on the United Nations Convention on conditions for registration of ships of 1986

Chapter Ten

THE NAVAL CREDIT: MARITIME PRIVILEGES

- I. Approach
- II. The maritime credit
- III. Concept and characteristics of the maritime privileges
- IV. Legal nature
- V. A brief historical reference
- VI. Maritime Liens regarding the common law
- VII. The withholding right and the maritime privileges
- VIII. Maritime privileges regarding vessels and naval fixtures on the navigation Mexican law
- IX. Maritime privileges on transported merchandises
- X. The historical background on the international sources
- XI. The International Covenant on Maritime Privileges and Naval Mortgage of 1993

Chapter Eleven

THE NAVAL CREDIT: NAVAL MORTGAGE

- I. Approach
- II. The mortgage within the civil law
- III. The concept and characteristics of the naval mortgage
- IV. Notes regarding the naval mortgage historical evolution
- V. Naval mortgage's constitution, formalities and publicity
- VI. Naval mortgage's effects and the mortgagee's rights
- VII. The mortgage of vessels in foreign port
- VIII. Mortgage vessels' loss and damage
- IX. Assessment on mortgaged vessels
- X. Attendance and disagreement between maritime privileges and naval mortgage
- XI. Naval mortgage discharge
- XII. Foreclosure action and naval mortgage execution
- XIII. Naval credit related figures
- XIV. The 1993 Covenant on Maritime Privileges and Naval Mortgage
- XV. The Banking practice and the maritime credit